Civic Leadership

Develop the inclusive leadership capacity our region needs to thrive

Chicago's tradition of private sector leadership has been a critical component of our region's success for more than a century. Today, the context in which that leadership is exercised is changing. Senior corporate leaders face increasingly national and global responsibilities. The expectations of younger business leaders for responsibility, career development, and fulfillment beyond their immediate job duties are likewise changing. And public attitudes towards public and private institutions and the leaders of those institutions have changed dramatically.

Leadership capacity at all levels and across all sectors is necessary for Civic Consulting to achieve its mission. Accordingly, Civic Consulting is collaborating with partners to articulate a vision for the future state of civic leadership in Chicago, and how to create the conditions where that leadership will emerge. We envision a region equipped to compete in the global economy, with an inclusive, distributed model of civic leadership that is a driving force for innovation and economic opportunities for all Chicagoans.

OUTCOMES

88 government and non-profit leaders have graduated from the Civic Leadership Academy, a region-wide leadership program developed by the University of Chicago, LISC, and the Civic Consulting Alliance

74 Cook County Health and Hospital Systems leaders across 7 cohorts have completed the CCHHS University's Leadership Development Program

Partners and Clients

Civic Consulting Alliance builds teams of business experts, government leaders, and our own professional staff to address large-scale challenges. In their words:

“Civic Consulting and their partners have helped to bring health systems on the West Side of Chicago together as collaborators in a way that’s never been done before.”

– Robert Barish
Vice Chancellor for Health Affairs
University of Illinois at Chicago

“Civic Consulting Alliance was a critical partner in the work of the Police Accountability Task Force, and has continued to advance several of the Task Force’s important recommendations. Their persistence, along with their partners and the many stakeholders and supporting agencies who are involved in reform across Chicago, are critical in moving our city forward.”

– Lori Lightfoot
President, Chicago Police Board

“Deloitte’s partnership with CCA is one we value very much because we believe in making a difference in Chicago.”

– Mike Evangelides
Partner, Deloitte

“We can’t do all that needs to be done by ourselves, and so I’m very grateful to Civic Consulting Alliance and its partners for their ongoing support.”

– Toni Preckwinkle
President, Cook County Board of Commissioners
